Gregg Southrey Rises To Top Of AOTY List After Five Tournaments

Good tournament turnouts and variable fishing results have made this year's start to the 2026 AOTY competition a real scramble. And with four more tournaments to go, the race for a top five or top ten finish is as wide open as ever.

Gregg Southrey, Rick Mawson, and Scott McDonough currently hold the top three positions, but only Scott and Bryan Malkiewicz have weighed in four fish in the five tournaments to date. That can be a big advantage when it comes to using only the top six scores for the final standings.

A complete listing of all scores and how we got to this point is included on page 8 of this newsletter.

NJ Issues Reminder On Current Striped Bass Measurement Standard

New Jersey DEP Fish and Wildlife has just issued a publicity release reminding anglers of the regulation change adopted for consistent measurement of striped bass for legal fish within the slot limit, as adopted in October of 2025. That announcement read as follows...

"Reminder to striped bass anglers: When measuring the total length of a striped bass for size limit regulations, total length is defined as the greatest straight-line length in inches as measured on a fish from the anterior most tip of the jaw or snout with the mouth closed to the farthest extremity of the tail with the upper and lower fork of the tail squeezed together.

"This definition has been adopted by regulation and is effective now in accordance with the ASMFC's Addendum III to Amendment 7 to the Interstate Fishery Management Plan for Atlantic Striped Bass."

View a graphic example of this measurement technique on page 5 of this newsletter.

Minutes Of The May Meeting

Membership Secretary Rick Mawson opened the meeting at 7:00 pm with 13 members in attendance. He turned the floor over to our guest speaker for the evening – Tim Keebler of Fin Seeker Guide Service – and conducted the business meeting at the conclusion of Tim's presentation. The minutes of the April meeting were read and accepted.

Treasurer's Report: John Pedrick reported a balance of $10,396.68 in the treasury as of the meeting date.

Membership: Rick Mawson reported a total of 50 members,

Due to launch-ramp issues at low tide, the starting time for the August 16 Bass Tournament at the Gloucester City ramp will be 7:30 am.

including 10 supporting business members, as of the meeting date.

Tournaments: Pete Antoniewicz reviewed the results of the May Catfish Tournament and the Angler of the Year standings as of that tournament. Members were reminded that the next tournament was scheduled for Sunday June 28.

Youth Activities: The DRFA Youth Fishing Derby was discussed, but no specific plans were made. The number of potential participants was estimated around 4 to 6 anglers as of the last accounting. As of the May meeting, we had still not received any word on a potential Silver Lake Nature Center Family Fishing Day for 2026.

Old Business: Pete Antoniewicz reported that three club members had expressed interest in joining Bob Slobodian's annual late-August fluke fishing trip as an extracurricular club social event. If anyone else is interested, please contact Pete Antoniewicz for more information.

John Pedrick said that he would contact the Texas Roadhouse restaurant on Street Road about a potential date for another fundraising event like we did last summer. Last year, the Club raised $71 from 10% of meal sales and $194 from raffle tickets sales, for a total of $265.

Rick Mawson polled members for ideas on guest speakers at future meetings. He said that he planned to talk to fishing guide Dieter Scheel who wanted to give a smallmouth bass presentation at a meeting later this year in September, October, or November. Members who know of a potential guest speaker, or who have an idea for a guest speaker topic, should contact a Club officer.

Rick also reminded members that June 6 would be the next opportunity for members to work volunteer hours that help defray the cost of our meeting space. It is suggested that volunteers sign up at silverlakenaturcenter.org so the Center can schedule tasks according to the number of volunteers available.

New Business: There were no new-business topics raised by the members in attendance.

Environmental: There were no specific environmental reports.

Fishing Report: John Pedrick reported fishing with Pete Marcolina a week before the meeting and catching about 30 striped bass. He then went out with Frank Beck two days later and landed 32 stripers and a couple catfish. Rick Mawson reported fishing with two grandsons for stripers. His youngest grandson caught his first-ever striper (at 29") and a 12.5-lb. catfish, followed by a 39" striper as part of their seven-bass and two-catfish haul for the day. On a later trip, Rick's older grandson also landed a 29" fish for his first-ever striped bass, followed by a 36" striper. Ron Soto commented on how good a striper season this year was, based on good spawning results from several years back. He and Frank Beck filled their slot-fish in the first 15 minutes of a recent trip when they caught 10 fish overall – with six or seven of those in the keeper-size slot.

There was no 50/50 drawing. The meeting adjourned at 8:12 pm.

Minutes Of The June Meeting

Secretary Pete Antoniewicz called the June meeting to order at 7:03 pm with eight members in attendance. The minutes of the May meeting were read and approved.

Treasury Report: Treasurer John Pedrick reported a balance of $10,304.12 as of the date of the meeting, with some bills still to be paid.

Membership: Membership Secretary Rick Mawson reported a total of 50 members – including 30 individual memberships, 8 family memberships, and 12 supporting business memberships as of June 24.

Tournaments: Members were reminded about the next two tournaments – a June 28 Bass Tournament at Neshaminy Marina and a July 18 Catfish Tournament at Gloucester City Marina in NJ. Members were reminded that the July Tournament had a 7:30 am start to avoid the low tide that would occur around noon on that day.

Weighmasters were requested for the remaining tournaments of the 2026 season. The only assignments filled to date were as follows:

- June 28: George and Rich Hoffman
- July 18: Gregg Southrey
- October 24: Frank Beck

We still need volunteers for our August 16 Bass Tournament, our September 12 Catfish Tournament, and our October 3 Bass Tournament.

Youth Activities: After a discussion about the cost of the Youth Fishing Derby vs. the low number of potential attendees, the members in attendance voted not to hold that event this season.

PattiAnn Cutter at Silver Lake Nature Center requested the Club's help for a Family Fishing Day at Silver Lake on Saturday, October 10. Members agreed to help on that date, even if the South Jersey Bass Club Association (SJBCA) Bass Bowl is held on Sunday October 11.

Old Business: After a discussion, Club members voted against attempting to repeat our fundraising effort at the Texas Roadhouse in Bensalem this year. We might revisit that event in the future.

Frank Beck volunteered to speak with Tim Keebler about participating in a raffle for a guided trip with him as our fundraiser for 2027.

Rick Mawson will reach out to Dieter Scheel to nail down a date in September, October, or November.

It was noted that there were no plans for Silver Lake Nature Center workdays on the first Saturdays in July and August. Members can access the SLNC website to sign up for their monthly first-Saturday work days starting again in September.

New Business: There were no new-business topics raised by the members in attendance.

Environmental: There were no specific environmental reports other than Dave Wermuth's observation that "the water is low everywhere."

Fishing Report: Tim Lang reported fishing the Titusville area of the non-tidal river with his son a couple of weeks before the meeting – catching nine smallies (up to 18") and a hybrid striper.

Pete Anmtoniewicz noted that his numbers and bite patterns have been down on five smallmouth trips from Titusville north to Dingman's Ferry. He is still catching fish in the usual locations, but not as many overall and only a couple from the hottest location. Frank Beck concurred.

Jason Johnson has forced himself to fish learn how to fish a glide by taking only that bait on recent trips. It finally paid off with a nice largemouth bass from Magnolia Lake.

Rick Mawson reported fishing Lake Luxembourg and catching four bass, five big white perch, and a big crappie – all on a small crayfish crankbait. Frank Beck also reported fishing there but only hooking four small bass.

The winner of $18 in the 50/50 drawing was John Pedrick. The meeting adjourned at 7:38 pm.

Guest Speaker Tim Keebler Provides Tips To Season-Long Striper Fishing In The Non-Tidal River

Veteran Delaware River guide Tim Keebler from Fin Seeker Guide Service has years of experience chasing shad, smallies and stripers on the river, but from his presentation at the May DRFA meeting, you can tell he has a soft spot in his heart for finding and fooling the largest of these three species Spring, Summer, and Fall.

One early key point that Tim made in his presentation is that stripers have a preferred

2026 Tournament Schedule

All DRFA Club tournaments are free and open to dues-paying DRFA members, with Club-funded payouts of $50, $30, and $20 awarded to the top three places. Participants also accrue points toward the Angler of the Year competition based on their top six finishes among the nine regular Club events. (There are no tournament entry fees, however, launch ramp and/or parking fees may apply.)

Except for the Shad Tournament, there is also a voluntary $10.00 luncheon pool with a 100% payout to pool participants at tournament's end for the three heaviest pool fish – 60%, 30%, and 10%.

Except for the Shad Tournament, new members may register on the morning of an event before check-in time. All participants should check in at least 10 minutes before scheduled starting time. Weigh-in is at the time specified. Late entries will not count.

Always check the DRFA website or the Tournament Hotline (267-934-2148) the night before the event to learn about potential rescheduling or relocation due to weather or water conditions.

temperature of 52 to 68 degrees and they will migrate to find that temperature. Citing the old adage of “sun up, stripers down” (a result of the fish having no eyelids to shield their eyes from the sun), he related examples of finding deeper holes where fish could still be caught mid-day after they have abandoned the flats once the sun reaches peak elevation.

According to Tim, the bigger spawning female fish start to enter the river in February or March depending on river conditions. These larger fish are better able to tolerate cold water, and they will start to feed actively at 43 degrees, but they can be taken if you slow down your presentation to match the water conditions in mid-to late-March.

The remaining bulk of stripers – in all sizes – comes in from the beginning of April through May. They will start to spawn once the water temps reach 63 degrees for a week or longer. After spawning, some of those fish will follow the herring up and down with the tides in the lower river, while those that go north of New Hope tend to head steadily upstream to find locations with comfortable water temperatures. This includes fish that have pushed as far upstream as New York State to spawn. After that spawn, many of them will start to fall back toward the ocean through June and July as others find comfortable places to feed and meet their temperature preferences in the upper non-tidal river through September before falling back to the ocean.

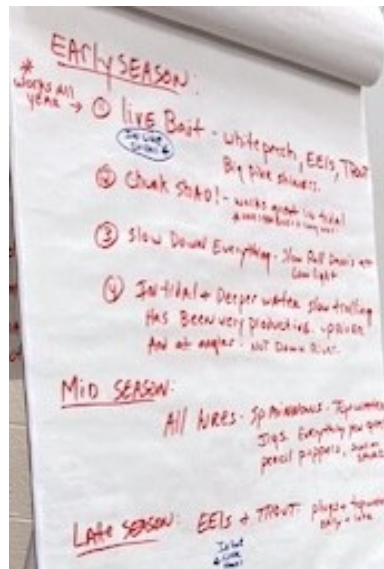

These fish – resident and falling back – are catchable all the way through September if you find their locations and use the proper techniques during low-light conditions. Be prepared to follow the fall-back fish downstream from hole to hole in any given stretch, if necessary, as they try to feed on their way back to the sea.

Early season baits include live perch, eels, and trout; chunked shad; and slow-trolled plugs (moving diagonally upriver).

By mid-season, any type of striped lure or bait can work if fished appropriately under low-light conditions.

In the later summer season baits revert to eels and trout.

Tim’s presentation included suggestions on types of baits to use throughout the season. (All of his presentation charts are available to view in the video recap on the DRFA YouTube Channel.)

In the tidal river, look fish where tidal creeks and rivers enter the main river, or around bridges, big flats, and the Trenton Falls. In the non-tidal river, seek out creek mouths, big rocks, rapids – basically seams, pockets, and eddies – anywhere you would fish for trout or smallies, but on a grander scale. Tim emphasized in his presentation that no water is too fast and no lure is too big in the Delaware River.

Tim added different perspectives on fishing from a boat or from land, whether you cross the current seam from fast to slow or slow to fast. Fishing from land, fish your retrieve all the way to your feet. The stripers following your bait will realize they are running out of water and accelerate to slam the bait before it gets to the shore. Fishing from a boat, be prepared for a following striper to attack as the bait changes its track whether making the J-turn in current or rising up to the boat at the end of the retrieve.

He did caution against using undersized gear when targeting larger stripers at any time of the year. While 10-lb fish can be handled with smaller gear, targeting larger fish demands more line capacity. As an example, Tim says he has been spooled even on 4000 series spinning reels. For his rods, he uses saltwater tuna-jigging rods that give him the capability to handle larger fish, “jumbos” as he calls them. He uses 40 to 65-lb. braid with 20 to 30 lb. fluorocarbon leader as long as he can handle casting. With a plug, he incorporates a barrel swivel between the main line and leader.

If you use a speed clip to attach to the lure, take the split ring off of the lure to avoid two pivot points killing the action of the lure. If he is using a jig, he ties the fluorocarbon leader directly to the lure with a good loop knot.

According to Tim, “floats are fun” when fishing live trout, eels, or perch, to keep the bait just above the rocks. Lighted floats “can be a real hoot” at night when fished down a seam for as long as you can still see the light.

Tim's presentation included suggestions on types of baits and rigs to use throughout the season. (All of his presentation charts are available to view in the video recap on the DRFA YouTube Channel.)

Once you do get a good fish on your line, make sure you have a good net or pair of lip grippers to ensure that you land the fish (and avoid the sob story of a lost 50-lb striper that Tim related during the seminar).

If you don't plan on eating a striper you catch, grab a quick picture and revive the fish as quickly as you can. Do not hold the fish by the jaw in current when doing so as this will prevent them from moving their gills properly. Try to get to an eddy where you can hold the fish by the tail until it is ready to swim away.

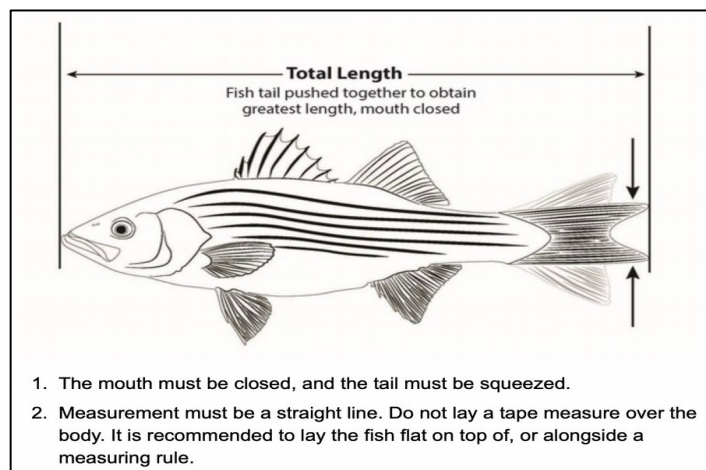

During the Q&A portion of his presentation, Tim said to look for cold spring streams feeding the river, or areas where springs bubble up from the river bottom.

He says he gets fish migrating back from New York State into late-August or into September. Eels (12" to 14") are a favored bait of his during that time.

June Bass Tourney: Many Were Called But Few Were Chosen

The second Bass Tournament of the season saw a good turnout, but only seven of the 19 participants were fortunate enough to bring a legal fish to the scales.

Casey and Scott McDonough once again led the way, with Scott just edging out Dan Wermuth's third-place finish.

Chris Hoffman captured the Hoffman Sweepstakes, surpassing both his dad (George) and his uncle (Rich).

July Event Takes Catfish Results To A Whole New Level

A mix of species – flathead, blue, and channel catfish – made for an impressive weigh-in at the July Catfish Tournament at the Gloucester City ramp. Top Prize went to Dave Stokes with a 40.40-lb flathead catfish that measured 38". Dan Wermuth's second-place fish was also impressive at 22.15 lbs. His daughter Amber finished third with a 15.15-lb fish.

Gregg Southrey Rises To The Top Of The List As AOTY Standings Get Reshuffled

Overall participation in the Angler of the Year competition remains strong with more than half our members participating in at least one of the five events to date.

Tournament results have varied, though, with catch rates ranging from 35% (March and June Bass Tournaments) to 100% (July Catfish Tournament). The April Shad Tournament saw a 62% catch rate and the May Catfish Tournament a 68% catch rate.

The top tiers of the standings have changed quite a bit recently as some anglers have missed tournaments and others have not been successful in a given tournament. Those standings will really start to change as anglers accumulate six or more fish and start dropping their 50-point participation scores for tournaments where they did not weigh a fish. In fact, the top two spots are represented by anglers who struck out in two tournaments, but that are followed closely by two more anglers who have weighed fish in all four tournaments in which they participated.

The only way to improve your standings is to participate in the remaining Club Tournaments, whether you weigh in a fish or not. And the only way to keep the top anglers honest is to weigh fish that force them to earn their points with top-quality fish, instead of coasting to the finish with last-place fish that earn 90 or 95 points due to low participation levels.
